Dari dr. Oei Tat le, Jalan dr. Soetomo 16, Tegal, selaku alumni-chairman dari The Ventnor Foundation untuk Indonesia, diperoleh berita bahwa pemenang Kalbe Farma Award :

dr. Salimi Achjadu Wirjosemito; lulusan Fak. Kedokteran Univ. Gadjah Mada tahun 1971 telah mengikuti rotating internship di Burlington General Hospital, New Jersey, U.S.A. dan sekarang sedang menjalani residency dalam pediatrics di lain rumah sakit. Teman sejawat dr. S.A. Wirjosemito berada di A.S. atas biaya The Ventnor Foundation.

Untuk jelasnya berikut ini kami kutip leaflet dari The Ventnor Foundation.

The Ventnor Foundation.

The Foundation through its Exchange Program continues to offer an opportunity for young graduates to come to the U.S.A. for a year of postgraduate medical training, to travel, and to develop better international understanding.

Over 1100 doctors from various countries have participated in the program since 1951.

A group of hospitals on the eastern seaboard cooperating with the Foundation, all approved by the American Medical Association, provide a variety of 12 month training programs under the supervision of a Director of Medical Education, practising physicians, and board of certified specialists. This work is generally a requisite for the better residencies. For the benefit of its Exchangees, the Foundation extends financial assistance for transportation, fees, and reference material as well as providing orientation information.

Stipends range from $ 7500 annually with food/lodging generally provided at little or no charge to $ 10.000 with cost of food/lodging deducted so that the net stipends are roughly equal. Part of the difference is a reflection of higher living costs in the more urbanized locations.

An appointment to an approved U.S. hospital requires (1) the passing of an ECFMG (Educational Council for Foreign Medical Graduates) examination, and (2) certification by ECFMG. A candidate may register for any scheduled ECFMG exam by presenting a certified statement that he is a bonafide student in a recognized medical school, or a photocopy of the appropriate certificate showing that he has completed such a prescribed course.
